Death, illnesses raise suspicions

BELLE GLADE - A benefit barbecue in Belle Glade August 6 may be responsible at least in part for one death and at least 28 cases of salmonella, according to Palm Beach County Health officials.

J.B. Tyler, 53, of 210 SE Third Street, died late last week in West Palm Beach's Good Samaritan Hospital after suffering symptoms of salmonella he may have contracted from pork barbecue served at the Paul Hart Benefit barbecue about three weeks ago. Health department officials wouldn't put the sole responsibility the pork served at the benefit, saying other causes may have contributed to the death and the illnesses individuals suffered after eating at the benefit.

Dr. Dale Tavis, an epidemiologist with the Palm Beach County Health Department, said the department has talked with 28 individuals who attended the barbecue and tested several of them. Most of those tested had salmonella the department determined.

Salmonella is a bacterial organism that is found in most dead animals, according to Tavis. He said studies have determined that in some animal species, up to 40 percent of slaughtered animals have been found to carry salmonella organisms.

The organisms can cause diseases in humans. The symptoms of the disease include fever, nausea and vomiting.

Tavis said meats should be thoroughly cooked in order to kill the organisms in case they do exist in the food. Any food that isn't going to be used immediately should be refrigerated properly.

He said the meat at the barbecue may not have been cooked properly.

Nobody with the health department claimed to have an accurate count of how many people attended the barbecue, but Tavis said he heard that up to 2,000 individuals may have eaten at the event.

The sponsors of the barbecue had cooked a whole hog for the benefit.

"They quartered it. When you're dealing with that size of pieces of meat, you have to cook it longer than most foods," said Tavis.

Roscoe Legg, a health department official from Pahokee, said the incident may force the department to have more input into barbecues.

"We're trying to be more aware of when these events take place," said Legg. "The community can come to us for help and information on appropriate food handling."

"We hope to have a little more input in it. We don't want to stop people from having something like this. If they're gonna have an event like this... (we want to try) to enlighten them on food handling procedures."

City may donate to care centers

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee city council will probably be earmarking $5,000 in the 1983-1984 budget for assistance to day care centers in the city.

The council, which has yet to make out its revenue sharing budget for the next fiscal year, heard the plea for financial assistance from the Rural Health Committee which operates several day care facilities in the city.

Barbara Spencer, the committee's director, told the council that it cares for children from 50 families in private dwellings licensed as day care centers by the state.

Thirty-two of the 50 families are Pahokee residents and the rest reside in projects just outside of the city limits, she said.

The state has already approved expanding the operation by 20 units for the next fiscal year so the committee can care for children from 70 families, said Spencer.

The budget for the committee will increase from $97,493 this year to $141,750 next year, according to Spencer.

She said most of the operating budget comes from the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services under matching grants. In previous years, those operations that couldn't acquire enough money to meet its matching grants could be carried by the excess donations acquired by other operations.

This year, HRS has revised that stipulation and is requiring all operations to come up with its own share of matching money.

The committee must raise 12 1/2 percent of its budget or about $17,700, she said, in order to

4 qualified as deadline approaches

BELLE GLADE - Only four candidates had qualified to appear on the Belle Glade municipal election ballot as the deadline for qualifying drew near Wednesday afternoon.

Two of the candidates, incumbents on the city commission, were running unopposed while a third had drawn opposition, insuring the first city election in Belle Glade since 1981.

William Grear, the west borough commissioner, will be running against Daniel Bythwood in the September 13 election.

If no other candidates had qualified, Grear and Bythwood would be the only names to appear on the ballot.

George Goforth, Jr., the east borough commissioner, and Claude Tindall, the north borough candidate, hadn't drawn any opposition at press time.

The Belle Glade City Clerk's office had reported that two packets were still at large and had to be returned. The packets include copies of election laws and forms necessary to file the qualifying papers.

Those packets had been released early in the election process.

If no other candidates file, Goforth and Tindall won't be listed on the ballot since they are incumbents with no opposition.

The election will be Tuesday, September 13 with any necessary run-off scheduled for September 20.

A TOURNAMENT FISHERMAN weighs in at the first Okeechobee Challenge at Slim's Fish Camp in Belle Glade last weekend. A team from Kennansville and Orlando won the tournament with two-day total of 55 pounds, 10 ounces. They received a check for about $1,500.

Board wants city to make site study

PAHOKEE - Palm Beach County School Board has budgeted the $1,000 needed to complete a study to determine if water and sewer are available to the site the board has tentatively decided upon for the new Pahokee High School campus.

In a letter to William A. Cross, Pahokee director of utilities, School Plant Planning and Real Property Manager M.P. Little requested the study be completed.

The city council had determined several weeks ago that a study would have to be conducted at the board's expense to determine if the utilities were available. The board had requested a letter stating that they were available.

"When we are billed for the work you having done, it should clearly show what the 'study' involved and the charges with each item," stated Little in the letter.

"It is my understanding that a four inch sewer force main exists along the south side of Larrimore Road as does a six inch water main."

"It would appear that your engineer need only do some mathematical calculations to determine what size sewer force main will be needed."

"Even that answer may be readily available by looking at the size of the existing main serving the existing school," the letter continued.

"It must be apparent to you that we are not attempting to obtain additional sewage capacity for a new school. The existing capacity is only being transferred from one school to another. The existing Pahokee Junior-Senior High School will be closed when the new one becomes available."

Councilman Jon Mock asked what the current population of the new school will be and was told the board is planning for 2,000 students.

When asked how many attend the current facility, he was told 800.

The board put a limit of $1,000 on the study.

Cable upgrading underway

By JEFF BROWN

Sunbelt Cable, Incorporated, the new holder of the area cable television franchises, is inching forward in its promised improvements to the system, the president of the company told local city officials at recent meetings.

Edward F. Addiss had addressed the city commissions in South Bay and Belle Glade and the city council in Pahokee during their regular meetings in the past two weeks to update them on the status system's upgrading and to address any concerns the city officials had about the system.

Elected officials in all three cities told Addiss that they perceived the cable company's biggest problem to be one of communication between company officials and the customers.

They suggested the company attempt to keep its customers more aware of any work that may affect their reception.

Belle Glade Mayor Thomas Altman told Addiss that the company should have office staff available to answer and deal with any customers who call in complaints. He said he felt most people will understand the problems if they are explained to them.

"Just make sure that your staff is sensitive to the people who call in and can explain to them politely what is going on," said Altman.

Addiss said at all three meetings that customers will experience brief, temporary breaks in their reception while the company replaces old parts and runs tests on the system.

"We regret them," said Addiss. "But it is necessary to do it. The system is old. We knew it when we bought it. We aren't kidding anybody."

He said most of the reception interruptions will last about 15 to 30 minutes and added that the work will be over by January 1984, although company officials are hoping to end it earlier. He said the result will be better reception and a larger system offering more channels.

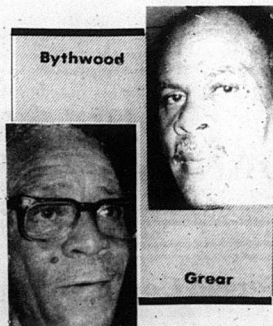

"I certainly understand the temporary outages," said Belle Glade Commissioner George Goforth, but added that he has received two or three complaints a week from people who claimed they haven't had reception for two or three weeks.

He also said the company needs better communication with its customers, a problem that has plagued previous owners of the system.

"People call in to get the service, but you never have a record of the calls," said Goforth. "It's not just one complaint. I've had half a dozen in the past week."

South Bay Mayor Donald Tanner told Addiss that he receives the same complaints.

Television dispute results in stabbing

BELLE GLADE - A dispute over a missing television resulted in the stabbing early Tuesday morning of a Belle Glade resident.

Charles Letand, 43, of Miami has been charged with aggravated battery after allegedly attacking and stabbing Altimor.

Belle Glade at about 6:28 a.m. August 16. Letand supposedly entered Altior's room through an east window and the two engaged in an argument over a television.

Letand told police afterwards that Altior accused him of stealing the television. He told police that he never stole anything in his life and, convinced that Altior was attempting to put him in trouble with the police, he attacked Altior. Apparently, Letand stabbed Altior several times with a knife and, when the knife broke, he struck Altior with a car jack handle.

The scuffle woke another resident of the apartment, Altior Jobson, 53, who entered Altior's room and tried to stop Letand from the rear. Letand broke loose and escaped through the window he entered the apartment through.

Police were called to the scene and Altior was taken to Glades General Hospital where he was treated for several wounds. According to the report, Altior suffered lacerations to the left side of the left hand, the right wrist, the left shoulder, the left side of the neck, the upper lip and the inside right ear. He also suffered small cuts on the face, neck and chest. Letand was apprehended and admitted he attacked Altior, according to the report.

Crime Watch program to reach into Spanish community

BELLE GLADE - Belle Glade Crime Watch, Inc., which may appear to have taken a vacation over the summer, will soon be attempting to reach into the Spanish speaking community for new members if funds can be obtained.

Lieutenant Louis Lowery of the Belle Glade Police Department told a meeting of the organization that the information packet given to new members is close to being completely translated into Spanish. It is currently printed only in English.

Once completed, the translated information will be printed and available for distribution to members if enough funding for the printing costs can be obtained.

Crime Watch members attending the meeting expressed the hopes that the organization could use the translation to attract more Spanish speaking members.

Police were called to the scene and Altior was taken to Glades General Hospital where he was treated for several wounds. According to the report, Altior suffered lacerations to the left side of the left hand, the right wrist, the left shoulder, the left side of the neck, the upper lip and the inside right ear. He also suffered small cuts on the face, neck and chest. Letand was apprehended and admitted he attacked Altior, according to the report.

3 facing charges in hotel fight

BELLE GLADE - Two men are facing charges for assaulting police officers and a third for his involvement in a fight at a local inn Friday night, August 19.

According to Belle Glade Police Department reports, Donald Ray Mullis, 36, of lot 32 in Sterling Trailer Park in South Bay, and Harper Ross Rape, 32, of Jacksonville, Florida, have been charged with battery on a police officer and a misdemeanor charge of affray after they allegedly struck two police officers who were attempting to break up a fight the two were engaged in.

A third man, Charles Carnegie, 26, of South Miami, has been charged with affray in connection with the incident at the Holiday Inn on Main Street. Apparently, Officer Rodriguez and Rein attempted to stop the fight and were both struck before they could subdue the three men.

The three were asked to leave separately, but left the facility together. When they entered the parking area, which was being patrolled by Officer Aurelio Rodriguez Mullis, Rape and Carnegie supposedly started to fight again.

Carnegie was charged only with the misdemeanor charge because he apparently wasn't involved in striking the officers. Mullis was arrested and placed under $1,000 bond and Rape was arrested and placed under $1,500 bond.

Pot possession charged

BELLE GLADE - A Belle Glade woman is facing marijuana possession charges after police found an automobile and bag loaded with marijuana in her possession Saturday.

Detective Albert Dowdell of the Belle Glade Police Department said he approached the woman, Christine Kelly, 23, of 901 SW Ninth Street at about 11:45 a.m. Saturday, August 13 and asked to inspect the contents of a bag he saw her remove from the trunk of a car on South West Fifth Street. Inside, he said he found several five dollar bags of marijuana. The car was also discovered to contain an amount of marijuana. Kelly was charged with possession of marijuana with intent to sell and possession of over 20 grams of marijuana.

Humston said the juveniles have been turned over to the Division of Youth Services for further action.

Juveniles burglarize school

SOUTH BAY - Two juveniles have been turned over to youth services after they were caught burglarizing Rosenwald Elementary School in South Bay Sunday, August 21.

According to South Bay Police Chief Roy Humston, Officer Melvin Thomas discovered the burglary at about 6:15 p.m. Sunday while he was on routine patrol. Thomas discovered the building had been broken into and soon afterward spotted two youths leaving the building. He apprehended the two and charged them with burglary of a school. The two youths, a 14- and a 15-year old, had apparently traveled from their homes in Belle Glade to South Bay by bicycle. They supposedly entered the school by breaking a window with a chunk of cement. When caught, they were found to have removed about $1,000 in school supplies, including a microscope, an intercom, office equipment and supplies and soft drinks. Humston said the juveniles have been turned over to the Division of Youth Services for further action.

License may be required, but what's it worth?

SOUTH BAY - A South Bay contractor found out Tuesday evening, August 16 that he can't have his contracting license with the city, but he may have trouble using it.

Simon P. Mosely went before the city commission to find out why he couldn't renew the license he said he had for 14 years.

City Attorney, James Gann told him there isn't anything in the city code that prevents him from receiving his city license and he could be issued one.

City Manager Lomax Harrelle, though, told him that, even if he renewed his license, he wouldn't be able to use it in South Bay unless he also held a state or county license.

Harrelle said that was due to the fact the city didn't hire its own building inspector but contracted out the job to the county. The county won't inspect any work done by contractors that don't hold state or county contracting licenses, said Harrelle, which would apparently prevent Mosely from doing any work in South Bay.

Mosely told the commission he was informed almost a year ago that he had to renew his license, but when he came to the city hall to pay the fee, he was told he couldn't be issued a license.

"In 12 years, I've had no black marks," said Mosely. "Ask Mr. Harrelle here. He inspected some of my work. I'm just pleading with the city commission of South Bay to just allow me permission to continue working in the city until I make a boo-boo. Then, don't allow me in. Not even to drive through."

"What he's asking for is his license," Commissioner Willie Marshall asked.

"Yes, but that's not gonna do him any good," said Mayor Donald Tanner.

"But what he's asking for is his license," asked Marshall.

"Yes, that is what he's asking for. His license," responded City Manager Lomax Harrelle.

"And he can come in and get it," said Marshall.

"And he can come in and get it," agreed Harrelle.

Infant's death investigated

BELLE GLADE - found not breathing in the crib by a babysitter at about 12:45 p.m. August 22. The babysitter immediately called the police, according to Belle Glade Police Department reports, and an ambulance was dispatched.

The child, Crystal Marie Gonzalez, was to Palm Beach County's Medical Examiner's Office for an autopsy.

The infant was the daughter of Jose and Margarita Gonzalez of 332 NW Eighth Street number one in Belle Glade.

Grear wants city to look into parking for southwest section

BELLE GLADE - William Grear, who says previous attempts to institute a street cleaning program in the southwest section of town have failed because of complaints about parking, wants a future program could be saved if the city would develop some off-street parking in the area.

And he thinks he knows just the spot.

Grear told his fellow city commissioners Monday night, August 8, that the owners of a vacant lot on SW Avenue C might be agreeable to a leasing arrangement with the city that would enable the city to create a parking lot in the area.

Residents in the area could park their vehicles there when the streets they would normally park their vehicles on were scheduled for cleaning, said Grear.

The lot, located between Southwest Fifth and Southwest Sixth streets on Avenue C, is owned by Van Randolph and Willie Clark, Grear told the commission. He added he talked to the owners and they told him they had no plans for the lot and might agree to a leasing arrangement with the city.

The city is currently working on developing a street cleaning plan for the area. Grear said the city had attempted to develop and operate a street cleaning policy for the area twice since 1969.

While the policies were successful, the commissioners always canceled the policies after receiving many complaints from residents and businesses about parking in the area. Grear said he is trying to avoid that problem now.

gested the city may want to make some repairs at the facility before raising the rents.

For those just renting space for boats but not living in their vessels, the rent will go from $50 a month to $100 a month.

Opinion

So here we go again

The Pahokee city council has taken action on changing from the strong mayor-city council form of government to the city manager form of government.

The council has scheduled a straw ballot for the end of October. If it passes, the council members will start work on drafting a charter change that will then have to be approved in an official referendum.

We doubt that it will ever reach the stage where a referendum is scheduled. The idea makes too much sense. For some reason, those types of ideas don't fare too well in Pahokee.

Pahokee needs a city manager. It is a little town coping with big-town problems with a system of government that is ill-suited to handle the day-to-day operations of a city.

That isn't the fault of the people, it is the fault of the system.

A city is big business. In big business, the board of directors don't run every detail. It sets policy. The directors hire a manager or president to oversee the day-to-day operations of the company.

If the company is successful, that manager is usually specially trained to handle that type of position. The company is run efficiently and makes a lot of money if the product is good and the right people are in the right places doing the right things.

The directors wouldn't have the time or the expertise to operate the company efficiently.

So it is with a city. Except more so. Councilmen are part-time city officials, full-time family-men or women and employees of other businesses, usually.

They don't have the time to put into running the city as efficiently as it should be run. They can't familiarize themselves with every facet of every issue and detail that faces them.

They can carry to the city council the experience and expertise acquired on the job, true. But we know of very few that can bring the time necessary to run a city.

The council should be setting policy, not deciding whether or not to get a garbage truck repaired or whether or not to order more toilet paper.

The Pahokee city council members are forced to meet for long hours and face a myriad of issues that could be better handled by a professional administrator.

That administrator could determine which issues are of severe enough importance to take to the council and also prepare some recommendations.

The administrator could also pay enough attention to the day-to-day operation of the city to save money. We believe that a good city manager could save the city enough money to more than pay his salary.

The citizens should vote in favor of the city manager, but they probably won't. They've had a chance to vote in favor of a similar change in the charter before and didn't. Tradition holds too strong a bond on the people in Pahokee.

This is one more issue where the people who live there must, how ever grudgingly, turn their backs on the traditional and adopt the modern.

Modern doesn't mean the city will grow to a megalopolis. It means, in this case, that the tax dollars the citizens pay will be more efficiently spent, which sounds like another tradition that we could get used to.

Do you wanna be gov for a day?

How would you like to be governor for a day? We're not taking applications yet because there are some details of my plan still to be worked out. But as soon as the governor returns my phone call, which could be any minute now, we ought to be ready to roll.

As y'all know, Gov. Graham is fond of playing at working occasionally. He kind of likes to slip into something comfortable and hire out as a day laborer, just to see how the other half sweats. It figures that on those days he's down at the airport hustling the baggage or up in a tree picking oranges, there's nobody playing governor. Well, that's a little one-sided, don't you know? I mean there's a lot of us laboring stuffs who'd maybe like to give the old timeclock and the lunch bucket a miss one day and tootle up to

AILSA DEWING

"And What Not"

Tallahassee to see what governors do to earn a living.

I expect the governor will be as excited as a dog in dip over my plan, but we still have those details to work out on who gets to play governor. Politicking is definitely out. The average man doesn't have enough clean shirts to stay the course anyway, football season's coming up. A lottery might be the answer if we can throw in a day at Disney World just so the winner knows he's won something.

Could be well also have to come up with some other jobs for the governor to do to get him out of the office more — like riding a cane harvester or toting watermelons. I wonder if the governor's ever written a column.

Anyhow, if this idea catches on, I can see it expanding faster than the legislature spends money. It's just possible the legislators themselves will want to join in a grand switcheroo with a whole bunch of taxpayers. With the right kind of crowd, we could undo in one day all the mistakes made in a whole session. And not even have to go into overtime.

What I did on my summer vacation

I cleared up most of my misconceptions about the Florida Keys last week. That's when the Joneses piled into the family car and headed south for a week's vacation.

The keys are not tiny uninhabited coconut isles loosely connected by rickety wooden bridges. Nor is Key West a sleepy little burg stuck out on the end.

What we found instead was a strip city starting in the upper keys and stretching far south. The natives make their living playing the tourist trade.

Modern conveniences are so pervasive that it is difficult to imagine anyone running out of gas or going hungry.

That said, the keys offer some of the most beautiful, unspoiled scenery to be found anywhere.

Green islands rest on a bed of coral in a gentle blue-green sea. Warm, clear waters sooth the body and the soul.

With all that water, plus the soft breezes and hot days it is no wonder that the uniform of the day is cut off jeans and tennis shoes.

In the vernacular of the day, the place is "laid back and mellow."

JIM JONES

Boiler Plate

Key West, also known as the Conch Republic, is more of the same with interesting little shops on Duval Street. Only the heavy traffic spoils the atmosphere.

The highlight of the trip was not, however, either the Upper Keys or Key West, but Marathon, a place in between.

On Aug. 16 we went into town for supper at a local restaurant.

We spent 2 1/2 pleasurable hours there, ending about 9:30 p.m., when the waitress brought out a birthday cake, marking Christine's ninth birthday.

With a sparkler burning on top and the lights being dim in the restaurant, it made a striking sight. Everyone in the restaurant, including the jolly ones sitting around the bar at the far end, spontaneously broke into a chorus of "Happy birthday."

Christine was impressed and I was relieved that I didn't have to lead the singing.

We spent part of our vacation in St. Augustine and Welaka, visiting family. In one yard in Welaka, I spotted a sign which read "Welaka dis place." I had to think about that for a while.

We took a bass boat across the St. Johns River and up the Oldways. Caught a pickerel and a couple of mud fish, as well as a few bream.

Then it was on to St. Augustine, where we got acquainted with the old city streets and swam in the Atlantic.

I had been after my father for sometime to write down his memoirs. But as he had made no move in this direction, I sat him down and got him to reminisce for me while the tape recorder ran.

One of these days the tape will surface in written form, hopefully, as part of a family history.

Claims her money was put on hold

Editor:

Yes, I am angry. I have a new checking account with the Southeast Bank. The problem is that my account has a "hold" on it and I cannot get any of my money out of it if I need it, which they failed to mention when I opened my account.

I deposited my payroll check from the Bank of Pahokee on that Friday and when I went to get some money out to pay my telephone bill, they said "The computer does this automatic for four days." That is my money for my bills, that I write checks on that in my account. I had a "hold" on it. Now what in the hell was I supposed to do when I cannot get money out of my account, when I put it there for just that reason? My phone is off now and I'll have to pay the $12 reconnection fee, but damn, I had the money

I will change my account to another bank and will tell all my friends who would like a good bank not to go to Southeast Bank, if they need their money when they want it. I have Quenester T. Pierce 241 NW Ninth Street Belle Glade

Addiss said he would look into the situation and agreed that if there is a problem in responding to complaints, it should be corrected.

"That's our goal, to respond immediately," said Addiss. "We may not be able to repair it immediately, but we should be able to at least tell them why it can't be fixed."

Belle Glade City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang suggested the company also include information on the improvements and their effects upon the system in with the bills. The next evening, Sunbelt Vice President Kevin McLaughlin told the Pahokee city council that the company planned to staff notices in with the next bills informing ing customers of the work and how it will effect them.

"That's an excellent idea and we'll do it," said Addiss.

Pahokee Council President Ada Conley said she often receives complaints about reception in certain channels.

McLaughlin said the problems are being looked into and the company is trying to correct them as part of its upgrading of the system. He said some of the problems are weather related and can't be helped by the system.

"We'll see a lot of electrical interference on many channels because of electrical storms that are so common in this area at this time of year," he said. "And the system is old. It's 14 years old, all in the air. Which means its exposed to the elements."

Bush and Councilman William E. McKinstry both said they've been under the impression that the service has gotten worse since the new company took over the franchise in Pahokee. Companies tell us they were going to improve the system," said McKinstry. "And I have to agree with Miss Ada (Ada Conley). Since you folks have had it, its gotten worse."

McLaughlin said he would expect the city to come to him if service doesn't improve after the repairs are completed and pointed to company plans to expand the operation by adding channels as evidence that it plans to upgrade the system.

"I don't think we'd expand the system without upgrading it," he said.

Addiss told all three boards that he would like to address them in about another month to update them on the status of the improvements and receive more input.

acquire enough matching grant money to remain in operation through June 30 of next year.

"We have no where else to go," she said. Several council members told Spencer that they would look favorably upon the request when they set down to work on the revenue sharing budget.

"We haven't made up our revenue sharing budget yet," said Councilman William E. McKinstry. "But when we do, I promise you I will make a motion to set aside $5,000."

"Annually," asked Spencer. "Well, I'll be here next year, but eventually I may not be here."

"Revenue sharing may not be anymore next year," added Council President Ada Conley.

Surplus created in Belle Glade's 1983-84 budget

BELLE GLADE - Final adjustments may yet be made, but the city commissioners and administration have made enough cuts and alterations in the proposed 1983-1984 budget to create a surplus of about $38,175.

Those funds may yet be budgeted.

The original budget was about $79,000 out of balance, but the creation of a purchasing department, which can save an estimated 10 percent on purchasing costs, proposed increases in taxes and fees and several cuts in expenditures helped bring the budget into balance.

City officials added about $24,570 in revenues by increasing the millage rate on property and increasing the mosquito control fee. The cigarette tax and state revenue sharing funds were expected to decrease.

Appropriations were reduced by about $68,500 prior to the decision to create a purchasing department.

The purchasing department is expected to cost about $31,000 to create, but city officials expect that cost to be offset by the savings a purchasing agent can make on expenditures.

Not all appropriations were decreased. The city commission decided to steer $35,000 to the street contract appropriations. The city expects to receive about $85,000 for street repairs from county and state sources. The city's addition to that fund will bring the total to $120,000.

The commissioners delayed any work on the water and sewer budget until they had become more familiar with it. City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang told the city commissioners that the proposed budget included an 18 percent increase in water rates.

Mayor Thomas L. Altman asked if there was any way to avoid the increase by cutting costs.

"I had just had the feeling that we were doing well enough in water and sewer revenue to forgo the next increase," said Altman.

Strang pointed out that the water rate increase was needed to meet bond resolution requirements.

He said since the last water rate increase in April 1982, water use had dropped 15 percent.

Commissioner Charles Goodlett said he thought the city would find the drop in water use came after the last sewage rate increase.

"A lot of them (customers) don't even read all the bill. They just know that their water bill went up to whatever," he said.

Altman suggested the city commission have a session with the engineers on figuring the impact of new rates on utility use.

"I had thought that water and sewer would be a breeze," he said, suggesting the commission come back to the budget later. "But, I'm not comfortable with an 18 percent increase. I had just thought that somehow we were doing better."

26 percent pay hike ordered

The United States Department of Labor has ordered the Florida sugar industry to give its cane cutters a 26 percent pay hike.

Under the order, cane cutter hourly salaries would jump from $4.73 an hour to $5.96.

The Labor Department published the new hourly rate July 22 and gave the sugar industry 14 days to respond.

Jim Terrill, vice president for personnel for United States Sugar Corp., said the Labor Department used a "very flawed method" to arrive at the increase.

The 26 percent hike far exceeds annual pay raises received by American workers as a whole.

USSC was unable to obtain the statistics it needed to reply to the wage order within the 14-day comment period and has since obtained a 16 day extension.

Two separate legal suits filed in a Washington, D. C., court last year led to the increase.

One suit was filed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People involving piece rates paid to H-2 workers in West Virginia agriculture.

A second suit brought by a Legal Services Agency against Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan involved the adverse effect wage rates paid to H-2 workers in four states:

Florida, Vermont, Maine, and West Virginia.

H-2 workers are those imported from outside the boundaries of the United States. They perform jobs for which American are not available.

As a result of the suits, a federal judge ruled that the Labor Department must publish an adverse effect wage rate for all states.

The July 22 adverse wage rate and change in Labor Department regulations was the outcome.

Terrill noted the order resulted in a 33 percent wage increase in some states.

Meanwhile, as USSC is appealing the new rate, the Labor Department has denied a request for 140 H-2 workers to cut seed cane in the Glades.

Terrill said USSC had foreseen that the request would possibly be turned down and that there should be no serious side effects.

"You have to apply 80 days in advance of when you need the workers. We filed in May for August," he said.

USSC has since located 95 local workers from last year, plus 106 new workers who want to cut cane.

USSC will need another 140 workers in September for a total of 280. A total of 201 workers have thus far been identified.

Benefits may go up

PAHOKEE - Pahokee Housing Authority employees whose wages are dictated by federal guidelines may eventually be receiving increased benefits in the form of hospitalization insurance instead of pay raises.

The July 22 adverse wage rate and change in Labor Department regulations was the outcome.

Terrill noted the order resulted in a 33 percent wage increase in some states.

Meanwhile, as USSC is appealing the new rate, the Labor Department has denied a request for 140 H-2 workers to cut seed cane in the Glades.

The premiere is open

Randall J. Mills, the authority's director, told the PHA board of commissioners Tuesday, August 9, that he had checked into the possibility of increasing hospitalization benefits and had found out that Housing and Urban Development guidelines do permit a limited increase in the benefits offered employees of public housing agencies.

He said HUD regulations will permit the authority to pay 100 percent of the hospitalization insurance for each employee, but only a percentage of the same insurance for each employees' dependent.

The commission is looking into the possibility of increasing the benefits since HUD regulations have limited the raises each employee can receive in recent years.

In other business, year.

Mills told the board at its regular monthly meeting that he expects HUD to reject or at least oppose the authority's plans to hire a tenant selector.

The selector was funded at about $9,000 in the 1983-1984 budget submitted to HUD for approval earlier this year.

MDA Tournament

West Palm teams take trophies home from local games

BELLE GLADE—Two West Palm Beach teams, one bound for United States Slow-pitch Softball Associations nationals next month, won their respective divisions in the Muscular Dystrophy Kiwanis Club softball tournament last weekend.

The tournament carried a $100 entry fee per team and all proceeds went to the Muscular Dystrophy Association, according to Chairperson Tom Bonavia.

Twenty-five teams entered the tournament which raised about $2,500 for the charity.

It was divided into two tournaments, an open, unrestricted division and a restricted tournament.

In the open division, Apollo Parking took the honors after defeating Mace Sod 12-8 in the final game.

Apollo Parking consists of the same team members as the class B national champions, V.M. Nutri, playing for a different sponsor.

Mace Sod had built a 6-0 lead through the first four innings of the final game, but then Apollo Parking bats exploded for five home runs and ten runs in two innings to claim the victory.

Apollo Parking scored one run on Danny Maus single in the first. Maus was advanced to third on a single by Marc Oxford and he scored when Doug Roberson singled to left.

In the bottom of the inning, Mace Sod built a 3-1 lead. Jim Herring led off with a single to left and advanced to second when Greg Dahl hit a one out single to left center.

Steve Richey loaded the bases with a single to center and Larry Rothell brought the tying run in with a single to left field.

Pete Rodriguez drove in a run with a single to left and Richey scored when Sonny Stein grounded to third baseman Todd Kirik.

Apollo Parking closed to within one in the bottom of the second when Sam Howell homered over the left field wall.

In the bottom of the third, Mace Sod started adding to its lead.

Greg Dahl hit a solo homer over the left field fence. Richey and Rothell followed with back-to-back singles to right center. Sonny Stein batted in Richey with a single to center.

The next inning, Mike Burkett led off with a single to left center and advanced to second when Jim Herring walked with one out.

Apollo came down from its mountain in the fifth inning. Apollo Parking batters pummeled Mace Sod for 10 runs in the two innings to claim the victory and the open division trophy.

Danny Maus singled to start the inning. The next batter, Marc Oxford, homered over the left field fence to close Apollo to within two runs of Mace Sod.

Doug Roberson, the next batter, homered over the left field fence and one out later, the game was all tied up as Steve Ammons homered over the same area of the fence.

Apollo Parking took the lead for homers in the sixth inning.

Maus, leading off again, singled to left. Oxford doubled to right center and Roberson was intentionally walked to load the bases and set up the force play if the ball stayed in the park.

It didn't. Rick Hasty sent the ball over the center field fence for a grand slam.

He scored on a single to center by John Swearing.

Mace Sod tacked two runs to the score in the bottom of the inning.

Donny Hilyer singled with one out and Jim Herring took first base on an error by shortstop Maus.

Hilyer and Herring scored on singled by Underwood and Dahl.

Apollo Parking won the game 12-8.

In the restricted division, Dailey-Fortney came back through the loser's division after losing its second game to win the trophy with a 11-10 victory over Bob's Bar, its sixth victory in a row.

Dailey-Fortney capitalized on a nine run first inning to beat Bob's Bar in the final game.

Dailey-Fortney, coming through the loser's bracket, had to play Bob's Bar twice in the double-elimination tournament before it could claim the trophy.

It had beaten Bob's Bar 9-6 in the first game to force the final, sudden death play-off.

After holding Bob's Bar to just one base runner in the first inning, Dailey-Fortney opened the bottom of the inning with four straight singles.

John Flinn and Noly Monterro singled to put runners at the corners.

John Brooker then singled to right field to drive in Flinn and Steve Park singled to right to score Monterro.

Dan Green, facing a new pitcher, reached base on an error by second baseman Nick Pomona and Ed Park took a base when Dale Buchanan bobbled a ball in right center field.

George Hernandez walked to drive in a run and John Malys singled to left to drive in Green.

An error by third baseman Rick Harris on a grounder by Randy Jackson left Jackson reach base and a double to left field by Monterro drove in Flinn, who reached base the second time that inning on a fielder's choice, and Jackson.

In the second inning, Bob's Bar used four hits to score two runs.

He advanced to third when Britt Hubbard singled and Dale Buchanan drove Pomona home with a single to center.

Two more Bob's Bar runs crossed the plate in the third inning.

Mike Neinanast was issued a lead-off base-on-balls and advanced to second on a single by Mark Popp.

Frank Hawkins drove him home with a single to center and Jim Hepple hit a one out single to drive in Popp.

In the fourth inning, Bob's Bar made it a 9-5 game when John Wilson, who singled with two outs, was driven in by a Popp single to center field.

Dailey-Fortney stretched the lead to 11-5 in the bottom of the fifth.

Noly Monterro lined a ball to right center with the bases loaded and one out to drive in the team's 10th run.

John Brooker followed with a single to left that brought Randy Jackson home.

A five-run sixth inning brought Bob's Bar to within one run.

Nick Pomona singled to lead off the inning. Dale Buchanan also singled with one out and John Wilson brought Pomona home with a single to right.

Neinanast was issued a base-on-balls to load the bases for Popp who doubled to right center. When the ball made it back to the infield and the dust settled, Popp stood at second with three runs batted in.

Hawkins moved Popp to third and Popp scored on a single to left by Jim Hepple.

Bonavia said the Kiwanis club considers the tournament a success and plans to make it an annual fundraiser for Muscular Dystrophy.

He added that all the players and teams expressed pleasure over the officiating, especially the job done by one particular umpire who apparently claimed he used to know baseball great George Herman "Babe" Ruth.

GCH beats Carter Chevy in league

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE—Glades General jumped to a 2-0 first inning lead and held Carter Electric to just one run enroute to a 7-1 victory in the first game of the A Division post-season tournament Wednesday, August 17.

Only one Glades General batter failed to obtain a hit in the game, and four of the ten players crossed the plate at least once.

Earl Wingate started things off with a lead off infield single at the top of the first.

Mike Hadden reached base when Carter Chevrolet second baseman Alan Sullivan bobbled a grounder.

After the next batter lined out to Sullivan, Mike Frazier walked and Rick Butler grounded to first baseman Dale Morris who relayed the ball to Sullivan at second for the force out.

The fielders choice forced in Wingate and pumers at the corners with two outs for Mike Cammeron.

Cammeron singled to center to drive in Hadden and put Glades General up 2-0.

That would prove to be all Glades General would need as the Carter Chevrolet bats mustered only one run in the fifth inning.

By that time, Glades General was up 7-0 after adding four runs in the second and one in the fourth.

Raul Paez was issued a lead off walk in the Glades General half of the second inning.

Paez advanced to third when Ron Pittman and Rick Coverdale hit back-to-back singles. Earl Wingate rapped a bases-loaded grounder to the pitcher who sent the ball to Grooms at the plate to force out Paez. Grooms tried to double up Pittman at third but his throw went into left field.

By the time the ball was recovered and the dust cleared Pittman and Coverdale had both scored and Wingate stood at third.

Wingate scored the third run of the inning when Mike Hadden hit a single into right center field.

Dwaine Doney singled to advance Hadden to second. Hadden scored and Doney took second on a single by Rick Butler.

With two outs, Cammeron singled into center to load the bases for the second time that inning, but all three were stranded as Kekay Ruiz flew out to right field.

Glades General scored its final run of the game in the fourth with three hits.

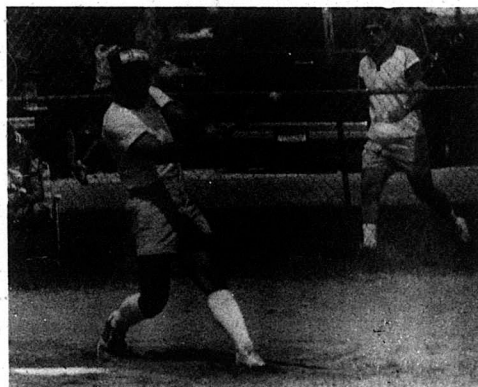

Hadden knocked a ball into right field for a lead off single. Doney followed with a single into left to put runners at first and second.

Mike Frazier then singled into left field to bring in Hadden and give Glades General a 7-0 victory.

Carter Chevrolet scored its only run of the game in the fifth inning on one hit and an error.

Alan Sullivan reached base with one out when

APOLLO PARKING's power battered all of their opponents into submission as they rolled toward the title in the unrestricted division. Dailey-Fortney won the restricted division title.

MACE SOD'S leftfielder Jim Herring caught this ball as it dropped in front of him, but it wasn't enough to claim victory as Apollo Parking beat the local team. Apollo Parking would later beat Mace Sod in the final and take the unrestricted division trophy in the Muscular Dystrophy-Kiwanis tournament last weekend.

TAKING A POKE AT Apollo Parking pitch is Steve Richey. He flew out after making contact.

Heffernan grounded to shortstop for the final out of the game.

In other A Division tournament games, it was the All Stars 8, Hatton Brothers 4; Mace Sod 12, Sugar Supply 10; Okeelanta 8, Glades General 2 and Mace Sod 14, All Stars 7.

In the B Division tournament, Larry's downed F&W Farms 9-3 and also beat Glades Sugar, 9-4.

Glades Ag Service beat Everglades Farm Equipment 6-4 but lost to Theo's 7-2.

Seedings in the tournament were determined by each team's finish in the regular season of the city summer recreation league.

The final games of the regular season were played Monday and Tuesday evening last week. Everglades Farm Equipment defeated Larry's 5-3 and Glades Ag Service 8-4 to move into a three way tie with those teams for third place.

F&W Farms beat Crosby Mobile Homes 19-6 to take sixth place, the final seed in the B division tournament.

Larry's defeated Seminole Supply 13-0 and Theo's downed Glades Ag Service 7-2.

In the A division, Okeelanta and Mace Sod went to the wire before Okeelanta sealed it's grip on first place with a 15-2 victory over Mace Sod.

The All Stars were left alone in third place after they beat Glades General Hospital 6-0 and Hatton Properties picked up a forfeit victory over Carter Chevrolet.

Glades General first baseman Rick Butler erred on a play.

The next batter, Dale Morris, singled to right to put Sullivan at third.

He scored on a sacrifice by Ayres to left center. Glades used the double play to get out of both the last two innings.

Brian Lohmann singled to center to lead off the sixth inning and was left at first when the next batter flew out to left for the first out.

Bonnell tapped a grounder to second baseman Coverdale who fed it to Ruiz for the force on Lohmann at second. The relay to Butler at first was in time to end the inning.

In the bottom of the seventh, Richard Schiele singled to center to lead off the inning.

Dick Gold lined a ball to Ruiz who speared it

Players of the week

Pitcher, 1st baseman take honors

A B division pitcher won three games last week, including two post-season tournament victories, and an A division first baseman collected five hits to help their teams obtain victories in the post-season softball league tournaments.

Jackie McLain, the Okeelanta first baseman, batted in five runs when his team downed Glades General Hospital 8-2 last week.

He knocked one single and two doubles in four trips to the plate and scored three runs.

In the last regular season game against Mace Sod, McLain hit two singles in three at bats. He reached base on an error in the other at bat and scored three runs.

In the B division, the player of the week is Israel Baez, Larry's pitcher.

Baez pitched the team to victories over F&W Farms and B division champion Glades Sugar in the tournament, and in the last regular season game, he put Larry's in to a three-way tie for third place with a 13-0 victory over the Seminole Supply Oultimers.

Against Seminole Supply, he struck out three from the mound and went one for three with two runs batted in at the plate.

Fuller-Haulcomb exchange vows

BELLE GLADE -- Shari Kay Fuller and Ricky Lee Haulcomb were united in marriage June 11 at the Belle Glade Alliance Church.

The bride is the daughter of Lenwood and Myrt Fuller of 18745 W. Epsom Drive, Loxahatchee.

The groom's parents are Jerry and June Haulcomb of 315 Steele Circle, South Bay.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Bill Anderson, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Maitland, Florida.

Karen Corbin presented a program of nuptial music as guests were seated. Carol Schmidt, soloist, sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "Evergreen". She sang the Lord's Prayer at the close of the ceremony.

Meme Jones kept the bride's book.

The church was decorated with lady and areca palms forming a background for an arc of brass candelabra holding four dozen candles. The focal point of the setting was a floral arrangement in shades of lilac holding a unity candelabra to be lit by the couple after solemnizing their vows. Reserved seat pews were marked with lilac satin bows holding swags of greens.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white marquisette featuring a fitted bodice. The high standing collar opened in front to form a jewel neckline. Alencon lace re-embroidered with seed pearls paneled the bodice front and back.

Sheer long sleeves accented in Alencon lace were gathered onto a deep lace cuff. The full skirt extended into rows of scalloped Schiffl lace ruffles banding the hem line and forming a chapel train.

The bride's headpiece was a fingertip veil of sheer tulle attached to a Juliet cap of lace and seed pearls. Her jewelry was a pearl pendant and pearl earrings. She also wore a pearl ring belonging to her mother.

She carried a bouffant silk cascade of white cattleya orchids and lilac Vanda orchids, accented with touches of lavender gypsophila. The bouquet was trimmed with streamers of white satin sequin ribbon.

The maid of honor was Mona Kent. She wore an aubergine taffeta gown featuring a ruffled off-shoulder neckline.

The bridesmaids were Brenda Rowland, Kelly Davis and Carolyn Kelly. Jerriann Haulcomb, the groom's sister, was junior bridesmaid. Their gowns were identical to the maid of honor except the color was lilac.

Each of the attendants carried a colonial style bouquet of lilac freesia and ixia centered with a large lavender cattleya orchid.

Patricia Lawrence was the flower girl. Her dress was white organza.

The lace edged yoke and fitted bodice was accented with a lavender sash and bow. She carried a white basket filled with orchid petals.

Stephen Bledsoe served as best man.

Groomsman were Julio Rivas, Brain Carter, Gary Fuller, brother of the bride. The bride's younger brother, Darin Fuller was junior usher.

Douglas Grooms was the ringbearer.

The groom wore a white formal suit. Each of the other men were attired in grey formal outfits. Their boutonnieres were lilac carnations.

The mother of the bride chose a floor length knit gown in dusty rose. The groom's mother wore a long gown in white and navy blue. Their corsages were white cattleya orchids.

Three grandmothers of the bride and groom attended. They were each presented cymbidium orchid corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception was given for the couple in the church social hall. Guests were served portions of a three-tiered wedding cake and punch, nuts and mints. Hostesses were Kathy Cook, Virginia Anderson and Mary Edens.

The couple is residing in Belle Glade following a honeymoon at Fort Myers Beach. Out of town guests were H.M. and Lucy Fuller of Haines City, Florida; Russel and Ann Pearson, Cindy Cooper and Jan and Bobby Lines, all from Loxahatchee; Riley and Sally Foster of West Palm Beach; Pat Capella and Carolyn Kelly of Gainesville; Ed and Fay Nestor of Pontotoc, Mississippi; Madeline Anderson of Maitland, Florida; Ruby Carter and Edna Lawrence of Vero Beach.

Each of the attendants carried a colonial

Auditors make case, retain job with city of Pahokee

PAHOKEE—The auditor who has handled the Pahokee city account over the past four years told the Pahokee city council what functions he performed as part of his duties and apparently the information was impressive enough to result in his retention.

Bob Hendrix, an auditor with the firm of Nowlen, Holt, Miner and Kisker, said he performs several accounting functions while auditing the city's books and that those items could be deleted from the cost of $17,000.

Accounting services make up between $3,500 and $8,000 of the fee, said Hendrix, who added that if the accounting services were deleted and he had to perform them anyway, the resulting fees could be higher.

Expensing the accounting services separately would be 100 percent of the cost being levied on the city.

Only a portion of the actual cost is applied, he said.

He also told the council that the firm "strives to lower audit fees" by cutting down on hours, using the same staff on accounts from year to year and refining the auditing techniques.

He said the city may want to consider having the firm complete some of the auditing work throughout the year. He indicated the firm may be willing to charge lower rates for work done during periods when there isn't, traditionally,

The council was considering seeking a new auditing firm because some of the members felt the $17,000 fee was too high.

After Hendrix addressed the council, his firm was unanimously retained to conduct the next audit.

Phone center devides, relocates service function

BELLE GLADE — Moving a step closer in the AT&T divestiture process required by the United States Justice Department, Southern Bell's local service center will be relocated effective July 28, according to Bob White, the company's local manager.

The center currently located at 108 SW Avenue C will move to Glades Mercantile at 73 SE Avenue E in accordance with the provisions of the court ordered break-up, ac-ording to White. Glades Mercantile will serve as the equipment and service agent for the company until divestiture is completed January 1, 1984. The company's location at 108 SW Avenue C will be used for processing local bill payments and for providing new service, according to White.

Equipment, such as telephones, will have to be purchased or rented through an agent such as Glades Mercantile, or through an independent dealer, said White, who added that Southern Bell can mail equipment to new customers until January 1, if they so desire.

The break-up of business customers, as required by the Justice Department, will be the start of a transition period for all telephone service by the start of the year.

makes you a criminal

And criminals do get caught. Now the stores are wise to shoplifters and have the most sophisticated equipment to catch them. Closed circuit cameras, people, all used to detect shoplifters. And if you get caught, you'll face legal actions! Shoplifters face fines, even jail when caught. plus the humiliation of getting a criminal record that can ruin a schooling, jobs and respect and trust.
